

February 2010

In a few months we will reach a significant milestone in the brief history of The De La Salle School – our graduates from 2006 will be graduating again – this time from high school. I invite you to consider Sam, a member of the pioneering class of fifth graders in September 2002.

This was Sam then . . .

- an impish youngster at The De La Salle School who couldn't sit still (not even for a minute!).
- “As a student at The De La Salle School I became more confident and outgoing and I learned how to be a true gentleman.”

This is Sam now . . .

- a mature senior at St. Mary's High School, Manhasset, New York
- “I still use what The De La Salle School taught me in everyday situations such as holding the door open for people and looking them in they eye when they speak to me. I have an 85 average at St. Mary's and this year I made the honor roll. I have been accepted at Touro College to major in physical therapy.”

Your donation now will contribute to the transformation of all the young men benefitting from a De La Salle School education.

Gratefully, with prayers and best wishes,

Brother Thomas
